THE ACTOR'S DREAM.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER BY MARK MEREDITH.

I saw the horses at the post; The starter dropped his flag, As down the stretch the flyers flew With pace that did not lag. Still on they came and in the van My hurdler gayly led; A winner I methought I was, With wild and throbbing head.

"Another half a mile to go !" With frenzy I exclaime The crowd was shouting far and near; On sped the nag I named. Then in a bunch they passed the stand-The golden prize was mine: I quivered with excitement and My feelings were divine

I held the ticket in my hand. And took it up to cash; I thought the "bookie" looked at me In manner rather rash. He counted out a roll of bills. I scarce believed mine eyes-"A fortune at a glance!" I cried
In crazed and weird surprise.

"Come, get! old man! The show is out-What are you doing here !" My arm was seized with iron grip. So likewise was my ear. I saw a thousand visions flee, And jockeys pass the stand;

l dived into my pockets deep

To seek my riches, and -I woke. "The County Fair" it was, The racing scene was o'er; The usher held me by the neck, Before me was the door. Alas! my gold, my wealth was gone-T'was all a dream, of course That was the only time where I E'er played a winning horse!

THE AFFRONT OF STENO. A ROMANCE OF THE VENETIAN CONSPIRACY.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER, BY FRANK T. GRAHAM.

"Why so pensive on such a beautiful Spring morning, Autonio?" cried the young Venetian gen-tleman, Bassanio, addressing himself to the most popular gondoller in the beautiful city of la-goons, who sat in the stern of his gondola, gazing into the pellucid waters in an utterly abstracted manner. The cheerful and ringing tones of the young gallant disturbed the deep reverie into which the young and stalwart Antonio had fallen, and he rose to meet the new comer.

"By our lady!" exclaimed Bassanio, "I belive you are in love. Come man, shake off thy lethargy, and tell me the latest joke ?"

"Truly," replied the gondolier, "I have heard several this morning, but have forgotten them

"Well, while you paddle me to the fifth pier I will tell you the latest. You remember the little joke some one played on the old Doge some time ago by writing on his magisterial chair: Marino Fallero, the husband of the beautiful wife; others kiss her—he keeps her!" "

"I remember hearing of that outrage, not joke, as you call it, Signor Bassanio," returned the other, "but what has come of it? For Heaven's love

Had Bassanio been watching Antonio closely he would scarcely have failed to notice the intense state of excitement which the boatman attempted to control with little success.

'You appear to be interested?" remarked the gal-

"Yes, very much so,"

"Well, it now transpires that Michele Steno, the same gentleman who gave you that pretty dagger which you are wearing in your girdle, was discovered to be the culprit a short time ago, but the council treated the matter rather lightly and our ker got off comparatively easily."

"Are you certain 'twas Steno?" cried the paddler, in a manner which certainly drew the attention of his passenger.

Why, man, what is it that causes this sudden change in your temperament? A few moments ago you were dreaming, and now you are raging. Of course it was Michele-he does not deny it.

"Then I swear to you that this same little token which he has left me will find a living sheath in his own breast, so thrive my soul !"

"What in the name of the blessed Virgin do you mean?" was the inquiry of the amazed gallant. 'Has our dogaressa no other champion than you's

"I'll tell you, Signor Bassanto. I esteem the lady very highly, and one day while she sat on the same seat which you are now occupying, by the side of her companion, Marianna, she burst into tears and in a broken voice deplored the fate that had raised this idle calumny against her, and when she spoke of revenge I doffed my cap and swore to scourge the miscreant who had written the insult. Until this very moment I was unsuccessful in learning who the vile craven was, but now my way

'Very well, my man, you shall hear from me very shortly. Here we are at my destination—push the boat in on that side—that is close enough, good morning, Antonio !"

"A pleasant day to you. Signor." Being lightened of its load, Antonio's little gondola bounded up and down for a few moments, while Antonio made it fast to the end of the pier, after which the young man walked up and down the bridge once more engaged in deep meditation. Taking a note from his pocket the gondolier read over fail.-Angiolina."

"I will be compelled to comply with her comnands and respite Signor Steno for a short time. What if I am seen conversing with the closely watched dogaressa? I will be instantly executed and Michele Steno will live! Well, I will run my chances at any rate. Ah, Angiolina! what fate was it that forced thee to the Doge? In childhood you and I wandered hand in hand through vineyards and stepped from crag to crag on the mountains of our native canton. Our regard for each other was twined round our hearts as closely and over the following words, evidently written by a lady's hand:

"I must talk with thee tonight, Antonio. Do not I have not yet been able to learn who the person is that thus favors me with this confidential and dangerous affair." "Well, this is remarkable," cried Bertuccio. "Did you not receive an order to be present before us at this hour?"

'Certainly not, my lord."

'Then what brings you here?

"To solicit a favor of our Doge."
"What is the nature of this expected favor?"

"To be appointed to the vacant position of head

Unfortunately for the conspirators the plot was discovered, as is generally the case, the informer being a tradesman, who, wishing to protect his best ner, one of the Forty Councilors, divulged to him the whole affair. A meeting of the Council was even being held while Antonio was conversing with Berthecto and Bassanio, having been secretly called, and steps were taken to stamp out the first fuse of the rebellion.

Antonio was to take charge of the bell ringing but when he and a few other conspirators reached the square the fower was found to be guarded by troops. The soldiers instantly charged on the small troops. The soldiers instantly charged on the small band of insurgents, and Antonio, after having vainly attempted to make his way to the belfry, was "At last you are mine," cried the euraptured Antonio, "but come, let us hasten to my gondola, or all will be lost to us." The two hurried away and remained in hiding all day.

When the shades of evening fell, Antonio and his Angiolina, disguised as best they could, made their way to the gondola, without exciting much curiosi-ty, and were soon paddling from the scene of the internecine massacre. The moon from time to time seemed to lift the heavy clouds, allowing her beams to reflect on the water the way to safety. Having a thorough knowledge of the Chiezza's course, together with the combined efforts of love, the young gondoller soon ran his frail craft into the Suddenly, by those caprices which so often change the destinies of man, a change came over the sky. The moon became obscured by dense clouds, a fresh breeze disturbed the waters, and the little bark could no longer be controlled by the strong arm of Antonio. Then the wind abated, and the clouds broke in torrents. Antonio strained every muscle to keep the gondola in line of the heavy swells, but to little purpose, and suddenly one huge wave capsized the craft, precipitating the two lil fated lovers into the waters of the Adriatic which seemed to raise them to the heavens.

The agonizing shrick of Angiolina only found an echo in the shout of Antonio, who, holding the form of his loved one by one arm, tried to hold on to the side of the gondola with the other. The force of the waves, however, seen unclasped the clutch which the young man held on the boat, but it had no power in separating the forms of the unfortunate lovers, who, after a kiss and an adjeu, sank united in death, lightened to their deep grave by the dashes of lightning, while their funeral obsequies were tolled until dawn by the awful peals of thun der bolts over the raging waters of the Adriatic.

CYRIL SCOTT

Was born at Banbridge, County Down, Ireland, February 9, 1866, but has lived in this country since early childhood. He began his professional career at the Opera House in Paterson, N. J., in August, 1883, in a play entitled "The Girl I Love, or The Diamond Mystery." He subsequently became a member of Minnie Maddern's Co., with which he remained during the seasons of 1884, '85 and '86, playing in "Caprice" and "In Spite of All." He next joined Richard Mansfield for the season of 1886-87, appearing in "Prince Karl" and other plays. His next engagement was with Lotta, sea-son of 1887-88, in "Pawn Ticket 210" and "The Little Detective." The season following, 1888-80, found him with E. H. Sothern, with whom he ap-peared in "Lord Chumley," "The Highest Bidder," and later "The Maister of Woodbarrow." He then became a member of the Lyceum Theatre Company, with which he traveled season of 1889-90, playing in "Sweet Lavender," and during the season following he was a member of the stock company at that house, playing in "Old Heads and Young Hearts," and in other productions. In 1890 he joined Charles Frohman's Stock Company, of which he is still a prominent member. With this company he has appeared in "Men and Women," "The Lost Paradise,"
"The Councilor's Wife," "The Girl I Left Behind Me." "The Younger Son," "Sowing the Wind," "The Luck of Roaring Camp" and "Gudgeons," each of which he has displayed great merit. In addition to his lengthy engagements herein men-tioned Mr. Scott has played prominent roles in many plays presented at authors' matinees and at benefit performances, and has won for himself a position in the foremost rank of leading juveniles.

EXTRAORDINARY VITALITY.

The persistence of life in frogs is very long Spallanzani preserved some frogs in a mass of snow for two years. They became dry, stiff and almost friable, but a gradual heat brought them back to life. Vulpian observed a return of life in frogs and salamanders that had been poisoned with curate and nicotine. In both cases in the condition of cadavers. Toads have been shutup in blocks of plaster, and then, having been deprived of all air except what may penetrate rough the material and of all source

The question presents one of the most curious problems that biological science has been called on to explain. The longevity and vital resistance of toads are surprising. Besides the experiments we have cited nature sometimes presents some already made, and vastly more astonishing. Toads are said to have been found in rocks. Such cases and rare, but it would be as unreasonable to don't them as to believe in some of the miraculous explanations that have been made of the matter. The when is marvelous, it is true, but it is sup norted by evidence that we are not able to contest and skepticism, which is incompatible with science vill have to disappear if rigorous observation shall confirm it.

Would that your magnetic influence had not lured me to the city: vet I may still be of service to thee, and tonight !

II-"MARCH ON ST. MARKS. That night, after the cathedral bell had tolled ten Antonio entered secretly through the portals of the ducal palace and ran lightly up the grand staircase lust as he reached the top a great light dazzled his sight and in an instant he perceived the Doge' nephew, the grand patrician, Bertuccia Faliero, ad vancing along the vast corridor toward him, fol owed hy some fifteen attendants carrying flaming Much to the young gondoller's surprise the grand patrician made him a sign to follow him and, trembling with fear that his object in visiting the palace had been discovered, Antonio allowed himself to be conducted to a remote hall, where he was saluted and thanked for the purctual manne in which he had kept his engagement. He was also told that he would be required to attend to rilous work that very night.

Antonio, who at first believed himself to be in a dream, had scarcely time to recover his senses en plans of a gigantic plot were unfolded to him the destruction of the nobility being the theme, and the plan of action drawn out by Marino Fallero him self. During the recital Antonio stood as one para lyzed, and his stience being understood by Bertuc cio as a symptom of fear and indifference, the en husiast cried out in a loud voice:

"Thou coward and traitor! I see clearly that the craven nature will overpower the strong frame. We have mistaken our man, but you shall not leave these precincts alive, so prepare for instant death." "My lord," replied the astonished Antonio, "I am neither coward or traitor, but you must understand

This explanation sufficed to banish the suspicion of the grand patrician, who smiled and said

VARIETY AND MINSTRELSY

HARRY MORRIS is busy arranging the details for Harry Morris' Entertainers, the new company which Morris & Miaco will put on the road next season. He has already arranged the style of entertainment he intends giving, and is now drawing the designs for the paper. It is the intention of the manage-ment to depart from the usual style of entertainment ment to depart from the usual style of entertainment given by specialty companies. The performance will open with the scene at a steamboat dock when a traveling company is landing, and as they walk up the street the theatre is brought into view, and finally the stage entrance. The next scene will present the company on the stage ready for rehearsal, when a regular vaudevine entertainment will be given. The idea originated in Mr. Morris' fertile brain, and he thinks it sufficiently novel to draw paying houses. Among the people already engaged are the Powers Family of four, Gilmore and Leonard, Edwin Latell, Mabel and Horace Adair, Imagene Comer, Flynn and Walker, Rexo, La Roche and Melville, and Charley Banks. Harry Morris and Thos. Misco are proprietors, and Harry Morris manager.

- A. L. Fanshawe, of the Frost & Fanshawe Co claims prior right to the title "The Country Post-master," his play of that name having been acted in 1890, and he thinks that Jerome Eddy should master," his play of that name having been acted in 1890, and he thinks that Jerome Eddy should change the name of his play. Mr. Fanshawe writes: "I have had trouble in producing my play in towns where a man named Robinson produced a version of 'Crawford's Claim' called 'The Postmaster.' We shall continue to play through the Summer as we have for the past five years, and, although this is one of the worst seasons ever known, we are coming out about even, if we have not made any money. We go into Canada soon, and will run over our old circuit. My new Yankee drama is completed, and the paper is being gotten out. I shall not disclose the name and thus try and protect it. I have completed several new dramas besides revising the chestnuts. I have a good version of 'Eass' Lynne.' Our company remains the same as last year."

Last Week's Events.-The season has al most come to an end, and its waning hours have been devoid of incident. The past week was in every way extremely dull. At the principal theatres there was only one change of attraction at the beginning of the week, and that resulted only in the presentation of a revived play. An easterly storm abided here all of the week and seriously intend hereby. storm abided here all of the week and seriously injured business. It was a week of gloom unrelieved by any antictpatory joy. There were but few notes of preparation heard for the season which will be gin next Fall. Distrust is everywhere apparent.
Managers of road attractions are not as sanguine as usual, and show a disposition to wait awhite be fore engaging their companies or arranging their routes, while upon the other hand managers of houses throughout the country are using caution in booking attractions, fearing that companies will strand before reaching them, and thus leave them with much open time. As a result it is very probable that fewer road ventures than usual will be undertaken, and, as there has been in the recent

MADISON SQUARE THEATRE.-Minble Seligman MADISON SQUARE THEATRE.—attnies Senguan succeeded, May 2s, in producing at this house her new acquisition, "Lady Gladys," a play in four acts, by Robert Buchanan. This, accordingly, was its first American production, and, owing to many misadventures, was almost its first production upon any stage. The play was twice announced for production by a provincial English company, for production by a provincial English company, but for some unknown reasons was not presented. It was then leased by Mrs. Langtry for her contemplated American tour, but she surrendered it upon deciding to abandon her intention of coming to this country. Miss Seligman then obtained the American rights to the play, contingent upon giving it a production within a certain specified time. She contracted with H. C. Miner, or rather with his local agent, to produce it May 7 at Mr. Miner's Newark Theatre, and, in order to fulfill the requirements of the intenational copyright law, a performance in England was amounced for the same date. Accordingly the first production of the play upon any stage was given upon the above mentioned date at the Opera Comique, London, Eng., for copyright purposes only, but Miss Seligman, having quarreled with Mr. Miner concerning the terms of her contract, the play was not produced in Newark. Then followed a suit for damages brought by Miss Seligman against Mr. Miner, and which is still pending. Following this action an arrangement was effected by Miss Seligman with Messrs. Carl & Theodor Rosenfeld, who at present are under contract to supply altractions for Miner's Fifth Avenue Theatre, this city, whereby the play was to have been produced at that house May 14. Mr. Miner, however, appealed to the courts, claiming that the Messrs. Rosenfeld could rightfully produce at that house only certain plays mentioned in their contract, and succeeded thus in preventing the performance at this house. The Harfem Opera House was next selected as the place of production, but almost immediately breather this project was abandoned, and the Madison Square Theatre was the final choice, with the result above chronicled. The necessity of going to press at an early hour, owing to the approach of a holiday (Decoration Day), which immediately follows the date of this writing, precindes the possibility of narrating the story of the play or of referring to the performance in detail. Such mention will therefore be but for some unknown reasons was not presented. It was then leased by Mrs. Langtry for her contem-gramme presented week of May 2s was up to the standard of its predecessors and was witnessed on Monday night by a full house. Unthan, the armiess wonder, began lits second week and won many new wonder, began his second week and won many new admirers by the ease and dexterity with which he performs his many feats. In looking at hin one forgets that he is armless and only sees the artistic side of his performance. Win he Bob performed several novel feats in head balancing on a trapeze and called forth much applause. Mile. Gin, soprayo singer, received several encores for ner rendition of German songs. Morton and Revelle, society sketch performers, were well received for their singing and dancing, and John R. Harty, the juggling waiter, was toudly applauded for his turn. Ed. Parker proved to be a singer of descriptive songs to the liking of his hearers and received several encores. Edward and Jose Evans, the "Little Sweethearts," were given a warm reception. songs to the liking of his hearers and received several encores. Edward and Josie Evans, the "Little Sweethearts," were given a warm reception, and Kins Ners received great applause for a novel and clever balancing act. Troja entered upon her sixth week a continued favorite and was called upon to answer several encores. Mand Madison, serpentine dancer, closed the evening's entertainment and was accorded the approval of her audience. Attractions announced for next week are: Unthan, Sherman and Morisey, Troja, Imperial Trio, Caron and Herbert, Kate Rooney, Prince Satsuma, Collins Brotherts, Freeman and West and Frances Russel.

Koster & Blal's.—A crowded house greeted the excellent bill presented week of May 2s. The lixexcellent bill presented week of May 2s. The liv-ing pictures continue to be the magnet of this house, and these, with the rest of the programme, received continuous applause. The Three Sisters Ethardo, equilibrists, made their American debut with unquestioned success. They are all young. attractive and graceful, and perform numerous feats of tumbling, balancing, posing, contortion, etc., and keep one guessing as to what they are going to do next. One of the sisters, Mile. Naomi, first made her appearance in a single turn in balancing on a pyramid of tables and decanters, and won great applause by her many novel and exceptionally clever feats. Adricing have began her seventh week a continued favorite. Calcedo, king of the wire, entered upon his third week and continued to win hearty applause for clever wire work. Fred H. Lesile and his trained dogs was still a popular holdover. Mile, Laio, the female bicyclist, commenced her third week and added new friends and admirers to her already long list. Littke Carlsen continued to win well deserved applause for his carlcatures, and Sarina, contortionist (his third week), received the approval of his audience for his clever work. TONY PASTOR'S THEATRE. -The last week of Vesta Tilley, one of the greatest successes England has ever sent to our shores, opened May 28, when the clever comedienne met with an unusully strong send off which amounted to an ovation, and must have proved to her that New Yorkers know how to send off which amounted to an ovation, and must have proved to her that New Yorkers know how to appreciate a clever performer when they see one, and that it is immaterial what country they come from. Miss Tilley's stay with us has been far too brief, and it is hoped that we will have another chance of seeing and hearing her before long. Her new song, "The Man Who Broke the Brokers bown on Wall Street," which she introduced last week for the first time, has been immensely successful, and showed that she was capable of giving as correct an imitation of the New York broker as she is of impersonaling the swell English major. She has thoroughly proved to the satisfaction of Pastor's patrons that she is a performer of much ability, as she has achieved an unqualified success here, and is sure of a rousing reception should she decide to return. Miss Tilley's engagement will close June 1 and she will sail for England morning of 2. Another feature on the bill is Florence Bindiey, who made her reappearance on the vaudeville stage 2s, after an absence of several years, in which she has starred in several plays. Her turn with the musical glasses seemed to meet with as much success as ever, and showed that she had been forgotten by none of her old time friends. Lottie Gilson is still a prime favorite, while others on the bill are Rice and Elmer, in "A Countryman's Visit to Chinatown." George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian; O Brien and Havel, in "The Newsboy's Couriship." the McNuity Sisters, vocalists and pedestal clog dancers, Kamoch, Layman, the man of many faces, and the Four Punchin El loos, pantominists. Friday nights souverin right. Bessie Bonehill will appear here for one week, beginning June 4.

London Theatree.—John A. Flynn's London Gaiety Girls opened to big houses on Monday, May 28.—'A Dress Rehearsal" introduced the coine-dians and the chorus in a mixture of comedy work and songs, well put together. Harry Thomson opened the oilo, and he gave many strikingly realistic initiations, which were applauded. Bobby Mack, Irish comedian, sang and danced well. Keating and Flynn, in their bluck face act, made things lively for a time, and they were followed by Thomas Robinson, a baritone singer, whose rendition of several popular songs found immense favor with the audience, Brown and Harrison's sketch, "The Same Thing Over Again," carned them several eheores, both acting and stinging in fine form. The Claffin Sisters sang and danced well. Hattie steward and Tommie Gillen concluded their act with a bout with the gloves, and had to bow several times. The burles µc.—"On the Midway," ended the performance. Next week the London Belle's Co.

Bidot Theatre.—"The Skating Rink," Robert LONDON THEATRE.—John A. Flynn's London

Academy of Meste.—"The Gil 1 Left Behind Me" began on May 25 the twelfth and floal week of Us successful run at this house. It will go upon the road next senson, with its thirty horses included, and will play a brief engagement in this city.

STANDARD THEATRE.—M. B. Curtis, in "Sam'i of Posen," is meeting with success. He began May 28 his fifth week, and has yet four weeks to remain, counting from that date.

Broadway THEATRE.—Thomas Q. Seabrooke's latest offering, "Tabasco," is meeting with success at this house. It began May 25 the third week and the last fornight of its stay. Mr. Seabrooke's soing. "Swim Out, O'Grady," has become very popular.

Lycki M Theatre.—"The Amazons" began May 28 the fifteenth week of its run. This had been announced as the closing week, but it has been decided to continue the season another week; therefore the run of this play and the season of the house will close simultaneously June 9.

FOUNTERATH STREET THEATRE.—Callender's Original Georgia Minstret constitute the attraction offered by the management here during the current week. The audience on the opening night, May 25, was fairly good, considering the prevatence of a rain storm and the fact that we are now at the fag end of the season. The funnyisms of Billy Muclain, Ray Trusty, Gene Clark and Aff Weathers, fin the first part and the oito, created considerable amusement, while the solo singing of Interlocutor H. C. Williams, S. C. Epps and J. W. Brown was applauded. The Ancient City Quartet received their full share of praise for their work, the song and dance of Hope and Grundy was next and well appreciated, and the entertainment was concluded in a hilarious manner by the old fashioned walk around, "Pastimes on the Levee," In which the comedians of the company let themselves loose and tickled the risibilities of the spectators.

As we go to press we are in rece no interest whatever in the house, nor share in its management.

SOUSA'S BAND concerts at the Madison Square Garden offer unusually attractive programmes this week, and the popular conductor's compositions appear among the strongest numbers, if one may judge by the numerous encores. F. W. Elliott was the vocal soloist on Monday night.

ON ACCOUNT of the bad weather the Casino Roof Garden was not opened May 28. The management announce, however, that it will open 30, when an excellent vaudeville performance will be given.

NEW PLAYS.

"The Wage of the World."

This play, which was acted for the first time at the People's Theatre, Philadelphia, Pa., April 30, was originally named "The Ways of the World," but an injunction was secured by the manager of an older play of the same name and the title was changed play of the same name, and the title was changed. The story of the play is that of a young girl who, in her infancy, was rescued from gypsies, becoming in time the pet and plagne of the viliage, earning by her pranks the solviquet of "tex, the Tomboy." At the time we first meet her she is unconsciously in love with a wealthy young man, only a few years older than herself, who, as a lad, had fancted and protected her, as well as taught her, at odd times, the little education she basacquired. Unfortunately her affection is not reciprocated by the young man, whose heart has been given to the daughter of a wealthy merchant, to the despair of the little waif. By a reverse of fortune the young man's wealth takes wings, and with it the rich father's favor, and he refuses to sanction the marriage. After a dispute the young man leaves the house. This quarrel is overheard and enloyed by the nephew of the elder gentleman, who sees an opportunity to turn it to good account, if he can but obtain forgiveness for signing his uncle's name to a check which has inadvertently fallen into that party's hands. The daughter, true to her lover, reproaches her father, and when she has left him alone his love for her causes him to relent, and he resolves to make her happy. Before he can carry this resolution into effect he detects his nephew searching his papers for the forged check. He threatens him with the police. In the struggle that ensues for the check the old myn is killed, but not before he has securely hidden the document. The hero, returning to obtain a Keepsake which he has lost, is discovered by the side of the body, and accused of the crime, the waif alone believing in his protestations of innocence. Circumstances are so strong against him that he is placed in hall awaiting trial. Seeing no way to prove himself guiltiess he determines to escape and hunt down his persecutors. He is enabled to do this through the efforts of the little heroine and an Irishman's love for the bottle. The escape having been accomplished, the wore The story of the play is that of a young girl who, in her infancy, was rescued from gypsies, becoming

'The Little Conspirator."

This play, the work of Clay M. Greene, was pro duced for the first time on any stage at the Girard Avenue Theatre, Philadelphia, April 23. The curtain rises upon a parlor of a hotel in Washington, in duced for the first time on any stage at the Girard Avenue Theatre, Philadelphia, April 23. The curtain rises upon a parlor of a hotel in Washington, in which a group of Cuban conspirators are plotting for the overthrow of the government of Cuba. Through false representations by the female captain of the conspirators, Lolita Navarrez, the Assistant Secretary of State of the United States, Horace Bristow, who is in love with Lolita, is induced to obtain the clearance papers for a ship laden with munithons of war en route from America to Cuba. As young Bristow brings the papers to his sweetheart he is overheard declaring his love for her by Rafael Estrada, a fellow conspirator and a Spanish spv, who, having been repremanded for his insuit, caused by his jealousy of the American statesman, divulged to the State Department the part young Rristow took in adding the conspiracy, whereupon Bristow has dismissed from the service in disgrace. The young American, realizing for the first time that he has been duped, accuses his sweetheart of deceit and causing his downfall, in consequence of which he cas's her from him despite her earnest pleadings for mercy and a hearing. The second act takes place in the court yard of the Cuban hotel, where Lolita, mistaken for the hotelkeeper's deaf daughter, overhears a plot between Estrada and his inamorata, Fortuna, to kill Gen. Jovellar, the Captain General of the Island. By means of this discovery she holds Estrada in check. The news reaches the island that Horace Bristow has just landed, he being the correspondent of a syndicate of New York newspapers, and that the American vessel, Virginius, has been captured and many innocent American marines assassinated. Estrada attempts to arrest Bristow on a false charge, but he is foided by the timely intervention of Loita and Maj. A. J. Stubbs, an

"The Diplomats."

Edward M. Alfriend's four act drama, "The Dip lomats," was originally acted at the Grand Opera House, Boston, Mass., April 9. The play is a strange mixture of good and bad and was evidently written under the strong influence of Oulda's novels. Its style is bombastic, the anti-climaxes are many and the redundancy is irritating. Lord Cas'lemore, style is bombastic, the anti-climaxes are many and the redundancy is tritating. Lord Cas'lemore, the English Ambassador to France, supposed to be ose of the very highest officials connected with the British diplomatic service, an honorable man, makes desperate love to an adventuress, notwithstanding the fact that he belives her to be the wife of another noble Englishman. For this love he gives away state secrets of the highest importance and kills his most devoted and most loving friend in a duel. After the death of his friend by his hand he nearly chokes the life out of the adventuress, hounds her until Europe is too hot to hold her, and she becomes an outcast and a beggar, and then he marries the innocent daughter of the man he has nurdered, who, by the way, is also the daughter of the adventuress, who was his mistress. The cast: Lord Cecil Castlemore, Joseph Haworth; Major Will Cavinsdale, Howard Gould: M. Olliver, Mark Price; General Duboise, Frank J. Keenan; Captain Gerald St. Martin, Charles E. Inslee; Earl of Li chfield, Edward Wade; De Jarden, Edward D. Dennison; Junes Cusick, Joseph George; Louise Van Dorm, Henrietta Lander; Lady Froth, Isabelle Evesson; Marchioness of Castlemore, Annie Clarke; Mme. Dubois, Kate Ryan; Miriam, Belle Stokes; Countess Winslow, Elia L. Ingalls.

His creditors are clamoring for their money, but his typewriter keeps them away from him. In the meantime corner lots of Rush City are sold to various people. When the rush of creditors becomes too great the promoter sets fire to the place, the creditors flee, and the fire is extinguished with a Rush City. Rush runs for the Legislature, but, seeing that he is about to be defeated, he steals the court house (a tent), and transfers it to Cactusville, a rival boom town. The theft is discovered, and Rush city loss as rees as town jail. A rain producer, with his bomb, produces a cyclone, and Rush City is swept off the map of Oklahoma, but Rush is safe. All the citizens of the boom town have been blown to Cactusville, where the play ends in joillifeation. Rush City is a lively and diverting skit, with plenty of fun in it. The cast: John J. Rush, William A. Mes'ayer; Walsingham Cholmondeley, Leighton Baker; Rev. Ephraim X. Turner, Ilarry J. Morgan; Dan Healy, Walter B. Woodall; Hon. A. Biggar Blough, Frank B. CHAMPION ALEREDO DE ORO left this city for his home in Havana, Cuba, on Friday afternoon, May 25, going via Tampa, Fla. He will spend the heated term in Havana, as he seems to prefer the torrid heat of Cuba in the Summer season to the more moderate climate of this country. He took with him three new Raleigh bicycles and expects to do a great deal of wheeling, accompanied by his wife, who is siso an expert 'cyclist.

A Marchi Pool, contest between teams from St. Joseph's Lyceum and St. Ann's Lyceum was played at the club house of the latter, in East Eleventh Sireet, this city, on Wednesday evening, May 23. The visitors placed their reliance on A. Townsend and Dr. Corde, while the home team depended upon their heretofore invinctible team, B. L. Meyer and F. Curran; and their confidence was not misplaced, as they won by a score of 100 to M. The game was followed by refreshments and a pleasant evening was spent.

we take from The histon Herald the following cabled report of a yacht race in British waters, in which an American boat carried off the homors. The American ballast in theater, the Dacotah, sailed her maden race to day (May 24) and at resulted in a victory for her. The owner of the Vankee ten had done quite a but of practice sailing, by the way of sail stretching and getting at his boat's best trim. There was great now as the post, except the vankeing of the tens, and all were at the post, except the trial of the post, except the trial of the total was rather a light weather one. The starters were the Yankee craft, the Dacotah; the Watson boat, Sia; the Fife boat, Lilth, and the old cracks, the centreboard Watson cutter Dora and the keel Pramingan. The Pacotah showed up well in the light sire and the Sais was stall. The race between the Haroush and the Sais was stalled with the sais to finish, being beaten by both to boat and the Sais was stalled to the sais was stalled and the Sais was stalled and the Sais was stalled to the Sais was stalled to the Sais was stalled to the Sais was stalled and the Sais was stalled to the Sais was stalled to the Sais was stalled to the Sais was stalled and power.

The second day's racing of the lutraters took place on the following day, off Carcadale, and was a fine test of their soa going qualities. The wind was strong and the sais the Fife Lidth, and the old fora. On all penies of saining the Yankee boat showed her superiority, and won easily over the Watson boat Nails, which as how toom the Dora beat the Lillith. The Fife boat here not in de any showing thus far, being last in both of her starts. The Docotal's owner put up her second racing day is after crossing the finish line. It looks into now from the Bacotah's sailing as if she would have a record equal to that of the Watson boat Mails, which was second. The Bacotah's sailed with the last at the same rate of speed she would have reached Sandy Hook light in 5d, 8h, 42m. Her daily runswere 3d, 837, 859, 519, 530 and 212 kn which an American boat carried off the honors.

The Game in Massachusetts.

The honor of scoring the first century of the season in the United States belongs to Frederick Fairburn, of the Lowell Club, who, going in second wicket down, scored 100 not out of a total of 181 made against the Lawrence Club May 12, at Lowell, Mass. On May 19, Fairburn captured five wickets of the Harvard University eleven at the cost of thirty two runs. At Brockton, Mass., May 19, Spinney scored 20 not out for the Boston Athietic As sociation's eleven against the Brockton team, the former winning by 118 to 40, the totals of the first inning. Chambers bowled seven wickets for twenty six runs. On the following Saturday, the Boston team played the Andover eleven at Boston and L. Haughton scored 47 not out. McKerron of the East Boston Club in a game with the Merrimack Club of Lawrence, May 20, captured eight wickets, six clean bowled, at the coat of only sixteen runs.

Frank Mitchell, a freshman of Cambridge University, has been attracting much attention in England by the wonderful scores he has recently made. Playing for Cambridge University against A. J. Webbe's team, May 17, he completed 1,013 runs as the total of fifteen innings this season, and in three innings he was not out. His highest scores were 203 not out, 143 not out, 136, 96 and 74 not out. He was clean bowled only once in these fifteen innings, thirteen of which were in college matches. W. G. Grace Jr., the son of the champion batsingar is also a freshman at Cambridge University and will probably play for its eleven this season.

Owing to recent rain only one chamaionship contest took place, May 26, at Philadelphia, Pa., the Merion team then defeating the Philadelphia cieven on the latter's ground by 160 to 32, the totals of the first inning. R. Griscom scored 63 for the Merion team. Morton and Brooke bowled in fine form, each capturing five wickets, the former's costing only it runs.

R. J. ROKERY made 58 and F. T. Short 47 in partnership for the first wicket of the Staten Island Athletic Club's eleven against the Bioomingdale team, May 26, at West New Brighton. Staten Island. The totals were 173 to 31 in favor of the home team.

A TREAT FOR TOPERS.

A recent number gives an interesting analysis of beer nearly a century old. The beverage in question was brewed and bottled by the well known firm of Worthington A Company, of Burton-on-Trent, in 1798. Several bottles of it were lately discovered by accident, and, together with some bulles of ale not over eighteen months old, were subjected to an analysis by prominent chemists.

The difference in the the two liquids was very slight, their specific gravity showed little variation, save that the alconolic properties of the older beer were slightly higher. Under the microscope the sediment showed shrivelied venst cells, whose vitaitiy at some period was plainly proved; also a pretty strong development of carbonic gas. What a specially distinguished the old beer was its remarkable bouquet, which resembled that of old madeirs, while it had lost its peculiar beery charater through having been kept bottled for so long a time.—Brauer Zeitung.

CHESS.

To Correspondents.

CHESS EDITOR, Melbourne Leader.—Thank you for kind attention of slips containing flattering notice from British Chess Magazine; but, having one old time chess exchange in your city, we feel obliged to decine the offer at JAY BIRD.—Your various reports are interesting; thank JAI DIRD.—Total your Gliad to have pleased you; we shall probably have something further later on.

JAS. KENNIE.—Thanks for occasional papers.

M. W. H., Manchester, N. H.—Aod to you, for the generous package of cless slips.

JO DE NE.—And you, also, for the welcome extra aupply of Canadian papers. Congratulation on your new henor. honor.

H. F. L. MEYER —As soon as we can get some time in quiet will write more fully than can be done here.

W. M. C., Harvard —The anticipated reply is partly prepared and will soon be forthcoming.

Chess in St. Louis marches right along. In that section of the match already mentioned Robbins vs. Spencer, the score was Marches right along. In that section of the match already mentioned Robbins vs. Spencer, the score was Marches that Mr. Spences on the first two games, when Mr. Robbins rose to the occasion and carried off the other three. In Fick vs. Holman the result was: Mr. H. 0; drawn, I; Dr. F., 4. So that leaves the Doctor to contest the ultimate victory with A. H. Robbins. When that is decided, it is reported that Rudolf Koerper-tands ready to challenge the victor. In the South St. Louis C. C., where our contributor, J. C. Bird Sr., has a chess school, The Clipters is always to be seen on file. Our contributor, Jos Ney Babson, has been elected president of the great Montreal C. O., and accorded unanimously a most hearty vote of thanks for his uniting and successful efforts to promote chess in Montreal in fact, as a cynic would put it, under his guidance of the contributor, and the summary of the control of the Cosmopolitan Club, Montreal has just about gone chess crasy. Previous to opening the fourth game in Montreal, the fifteenth of the match, May 15, President Cochentialor, in behalf of a number of Mr. Stenitrits intends, presented him with a valuable silver mounted cane, several chess pieces being elegantly carved on the bend of the handle. This day was the fifty-nighth anniversary of his birth. We are glad to see that Mr. 8: is reported greatly improved in health and strength during his sojourn in Montreal.

In the annual championship tourney at Yale College, which closed on May 4, Charles C. Bonsal won the title by finally defeating J. C. Ross, the former champion.

6. Kt × P + K - R 7 18 ack's strongest delence; any other way of playing and the mate is shorter if White takes the right course. By the sacrifice of the B the position is reduced to a very uncommon ending, in which the Kt wins. (b) If 4. Kt × P +, White could only draw, as then he would be unable to gain the necessary inove-Kt to B sq.-without a +.

Problem 1,948 hardly needs solving. It strikes out 1.

Kt × B P +, and every move gives +. We gave the position hoping to induce some beginners to enter this delightful, flowery path of chess literature.

White to play and give mate in four moves.

the advisacinty of parting the table yet, for the december this B is undispensable.

15 The Kt must be brought into play, although it gives white the opportunity of 10. Q B to Kt.5. If black has nothing better, therefore, his previous mode of development of the property of the property and 10. P to K is would weaken his position, as he had no white hishop.

(c) However, no harm has been done as far if 12 Q R X B, to which the text move is decidedly inferior.

(c) What possible intention could be assigned to this arrangement is difficult to devine. He has destroyed his Q saide Pawns, keeps a weak Q P, and all that for a possible draw by very careful play!

(d) The only chance to equalize the game he misses here, viz, le. K to his, 5, followed by P to K t 5, so as to get rid of the double P. This move at 15. is too late.

(e) This whole manneuvre proves only loss of time, and had judgment. The centre P's become weak after the K P is moved. To get 20. K to his 5, he made three bad moves—this and the two K's moves; for he had a shorter way when his K was at B 2, viz, 21. P to K 4, and then K to his 5 at once.

International Athletics.

According to a dispatch from Paris, May 20, it is proposed to hold an international athletic congress there on June 16 to 20, under the auspices of the French athletic societies. Baron Pierre De Coubertin has been appointed commissioner general. Prof Sloane, of Princeton University, is named for the American commissioner, and Theodore Stanton is the American emmber of the French executive committee. The Prince of Wales and other royal personages have consented to act as patrons of the affair, and President Cleveland is to be requested to do likewise. During the progress of the carnival fetes will be held in the Bois de Boulogne, one of the principal features thereof to be the American national game of baseball, played by members of the Paris-American Art Association. Ambassador Eustis will be asked to preside on the occasion.

John M. Ward, manager of the New York team, is quoted as saying: "The trouble is that persons who are criticising me are suffering from an attack of 'big head.' I don't care two cents what the criticisms may be, for they cut no figure with me. I am going to use my own judgment. In Comor's case, I did not lay him off because he wasn't batting. It was for the reason that he wasn't batting. It was for the reason that he wasn't batting. It was for the reason that he wasn't batting. It was for the reason that he wasn't batting. It have not not make a change to the latter has done such satisfactory work in the last few games that I shall continue to play him on first base in the future, and I won't make a change for anybody. I have had a thousand requests to lay Connor off in favor of Doyle. When I made this change it was not because of any suggestions from Director Wheeler, but simply because I thought it was advisable." "Then you thins it was better to lay Connor off, although he was hitting the ball, but was not aggressive, railer than lay off other players who were not batting and were no more aggressive than Connor?" the reporter asked. "Yes," was the reply. "Doyle can't play the outfield and wouldn't fill Ternau's place well, while Burke is doing well enough to suit me, and that's enough. Another thing I want to say, I see that some person declares that I may be deposed from the management. I am the manager of the New York team, and I will still hold the place the first of next October. Mr. Talcott is the only man in this club who has anything to say in the matter. As long as I am doing work to his satisfaction I will remain in charge of the team. And I know that he is satisfied with me, too."

As long as 1 am doing work to his satisfaction 1 will remsin in charge of the team. And I know that he is satisfaed with me, too."

"Thompson, the right fielder of the Philadelphia team, won't be available for a month to come, owing to the operation on the little finger of his left hand's says The Philadelphia Press. "Pending his recovery, Manager Irwin will have to do some thinking about the make up of his outfield. On paper, the present arrangement—Delehanty, right; Hamilton, centre and Turner, left—appears to be the best. Turner has not yet acquired the nack of running with the ball on long files, and consequently two baggers to left are more numerous than they would be if Delehanty was stamping around in his own lot. Right field, however, is the hardest of the three to play, owing to the sun, and as there is no feasable way of putting a bilind over old Sol, Delehanty had better be kept there for the present."

Boston vs. New York.

The fifth game between these clubs was played May 22, at Boston, Mass., the home team then securing their third victory of the series. Rusle held the Bostons down to six safe hits, of which three singles were bunched in the first inning, and aided by his wild throw, brought in two runs. Bannon batted the ball over the left field fence for a home run in the second inning, and this proved to be the winning run. Rusle retired the Bostons without a run and with only two scattering singles during the last seven innings. The New Yorks batted Lovett freely but their hits were widely scattered except in the seventh inning, when successive singles by Van Haltren, Doyle and Davis earned a run. Errors by Long, Ryan and Bannon had previously helped the visitors to their first run. The finish was very exciting, Bannon making two remarkable running catches in the ninth inning, and after an error by Ganzel and a sate hit by Doyle had placed two men on bases, a hit by Stafford would have won the game, but Lovett was equal to the emergency and that batsman struck out. In the fifth inning the New Yorks had three men on bases with only one out and Davis and Stafford failed to bring in a run. Murphy's fielding and Doyle's batting were note worthy features.

New York vs. Brooklyn.

The New Yorks defeated the Brooklyns for the second time May 25, at Eastern Park, Brooklyn, second time May 25, at Eastern Park, Brooklyn, N. Y., rain having caused a postponement of the game scheduled on the preceding day. A drizzling rain fell at intervals during the contest, causing a wet ball and slippery grounds. Busle was very wild in the first two innings, giving four men bases on balls and hitting two more batamen, disabling Griffin by hitting him on the right elbow and compeling him to retire in favor of Shoch. Three men, however, were left on bases in the first inning, but an error by Murphy and singles by Tredway and Corcoran sent in three runs in the second. Rusie then settled down and was batted only in the fifth inning, when three successive singles sent in a run and enabled the Brooklyns to tie the score. The New Yorks knocked Kennedy all over the field, Doyle doing the best batting with five safe hits, which included three double baggers, while Ward, Tiernan, Davis and Van Hallren were also credited with timely doubles. Two doubles and two singles were bunched in the eighth

George Oscar Sharrott, one of the pitchers of the Syracuse Club, of the Eastern League, was born Nov. 2, 1869, at New Brighton, Staten Island, and Nov. 2, 1869, at New Brighton, Staten Island, and commenced playing ball at an early age. Sharrott is a printer by trade, and played ball during his spare time with amateur teams in and around Staten Island. In 1890 he accepted his first professional engagement by signing with the New York Club, of the National League. He was shortly afterwards released, and then joined the then noted Acme Club, a strong semi-professional team of Brooklyn, with which club he temained throughout that season as well as the following one of 1891 and part of 1892. He was also connected with the Brooklyns, and began the present one with them, but was released a short time ago, and was at once 1892. In 1893 Sharrott was engaged by the New York Athletic Club as pitcher for its team. He did excellent work in the pitcher's position for that club, defeating such strong teams as the New Jersey Athletics, Plainfield, Westfield and Grange Athletics.

The New Yorks won again May 26, when the scene of action was shifted to the Polo Grounds in this city. Nine men faced Stein in the first inning, when singles by Van Haltren and Burke and a double bagger by Farrell, together with an error by Daly and two bases on balls, helped the New Yorks to five runs and a long lead. Three more safe hits including a double by Van Haltren, gave the New Yorks two runs in the second Inning. Stein there settled down, and the only other run scored by the New Yorks during the remainder of the contest was the result of a base on balls given Ward and a double bagger by Tiernan. Meakin pitched wildly at times, and four of the runs credited to the Brooklyn team were off bases on balls, a timely triple by Foutz driving in two who had been thus favored in the sixth liming. Two wild throws by Ward helped the Brooklyns to two runs in the inith

St. Louis vs. Louisville.

St. Louis vs. Louisyille.

The fourth game of the series between these clubs was played May 22, at St. Louis, Mo., and resulted in the third victory for the home team. Millier played first base and Cooley third for the home team, the former taking the place of W. Brown, who had been given notice of his release. Gleason was batted freely by the Louisyilles, but his splendid support saved the game. Kilroy was also batted hard and often, especially by Dowd and Frank, who each made three safe hits, the former's hits including home run, and the latter's a double bagger. The contest on May 23 came to a premature close after anx even innings had been completed, Umpire Emsile then calling the game to allow the Pittsburgs to catch a train for Cleveland. The Chicago management have protested the game, claiming that it could have been finished in time to allow the Pittsburgs to catch a train for Cleveland. The Chicago management have protested the game, claiming that it could have been distable in time to allow the Pittsburgs to leave on a later train. The visitors earned only nitting after bases had been given on balls in three innings. No fewer than six pitchers were tried in six innings, each club present ing three men in that position. The home team batted hard and earned four of their nine runs. Irwin led in batting getting three timely singles. Triple baggers were made by Decker and Beckley, and doubles by An son, Lang and Bauer.

Hoston vs. Washington.

The Bostons won again May 2s, when these teams played off the postponed game of May 24, which was then prevented by rain. Both Petry and Staley were freely batted, but the costly errors made by the visitors enabled the Bostons to win. Besides being batted hard both pitchers were very wild in giving bases on balls. No fewer than seventeen were distributed between the two teams, and many of them resulted in runs, as they were invariably followed by safe hits or costly errors. Loweled the batting. His four hits included a bome run and a double bagger. Staley and McGuire also made homers and Joyce a triple baggers. Connaughton made a good impression by his excellent carching and good batting.

Bannon, of the Bostons, made a fine batting Pittsburg vs. Louisville. Two games for one price of admission were played by these teams May 28, at Pittsburg, Pa., played by these teams May 28, at Pittsburg, Pa., the home team winning both. The first one being the postponed game of May 17, which was then prevented by rain, the Pittsburgs winning it by opportune batting, of which Lyons took a prominent part, he making three timely singles which aided his team in getting two runs. Gambert was batted as hard and as often as Menefee, but he managed-to keep the hits made off him well apart. The fleding of Pfeffer and Richardson was a feature, they accepting all of twelve chances in their respective positions.

Bannon, of the Bostons, made a fine batting record in the Boston-Washington game May 20, at Boston. He made four safe hits, one of which was a home run, another a triple bagger, and the other two were hard drives that struck the left lifeld fence and came near going over for home runs.

Rain on May 28 prevented the championship games between the New York and Brooklyn teams, at New York, and the Philadelphia and Baltimore teams, at Philadelphia, Pa.

The C. L. I. team defeated the Murray Hills, of this city, May 18, at Fort Plain, N. Y., by 14 to 6.

It required eleven innings to decide the game between the Brown University and University of Pennsylvania teams, May 28, at Providence, R. I., the former then winning by 9 to 7.

The Yale University team defeated the Georgetown University team by 4 to 3, in ten innings, May 28, at New Haven, Ct.
Clark G. Ball left Kansas City May 28 for the far West to engage an Indian team, which he has booked for games at Kansas City and other Western cities and towns.

Johnson prevented the Rock Islands from making more than three safe hits off him, May 24, at Rock Island, Ill., the Lincoln team then winning by 3 to 0.

It required eleven innings to decide the St.

handed down by the General Term of the Supreme Court of this State, at Utica, May 21, which holds the Ives Pool Law to be constitutional. The plaintiff bought pools on the races at Saratoga, and upon losing he demanded the return of his money. Being refused, he brought an action against the book-maker before Justice McLennan to recover on the ground that the law of 1887, under which the pools were sold, was unconstitutional because betting on horses was a lottery. Justice McLennan decided in favor of the plaintiff. An appeal was taken to the General Term, and the decision of the lower court was reversed. Here is the opinion as written by Judge Merwin, Judge Martin concurring:

There is practically no doubt that as the law stood prior to the passags of chapter 479, law of 1887, the transaction that the passags of chapter 479, law of 1887, the transaction that the legislature, by the act of 1887, intended to legalize pool selling at certain horse races. It was held in Hrennan vs. Brighton Beach Racing Association (36 Hun, 1889) that a post of the complaint.

So that a post of the complaint, can be acted by the provisions of the act of 1887, so that if that act is valid the plaintiff and defendant here covered by the provisions of the act of 1887, so that if that act is valid the plaintiff and defendant were covered by the provisions of the act of 1887, so that if that act is valid the plaintiff and defendant was considered by the provisions of the act of 1887, so that if that act is valid the plaintiff and so cause of action. To meet this aspect of the case the plaintiff calina that the act of 1887 is in 1887 and 1887 and 1888 and 18

Corbett and Jackson.

It having been cabled from London, Eng., last week, that the National Sporting Club, of that city, week, that the National Sporting Club, of that city, was willing to hair up a purse of $15,000 for a glove fight between James J. Corbett and Peter Jackson, a dispatch from San Francisco, where Jackson now is, states that I e expresses himself prepared to accept such offer. Now, if the champion is really destrous or again crossing daddles with the dusky gladiater, he should promptly make known his willingness to clinch the argument, and thus put a stop to the laik that has been going on so long that those who are inferested in such matters have generally concluded that at least one of the principals is not destrous of settling their long existing differences by a combat in the P.R. If the chilfornian values his reputation he should not hesitate to declare himself at this time.

George Dixon Muleted.

George Dixon paid a fine of $100 in Boston, Mass., May 28, because he punched Patrick J. Hennessey, of Lawrence, Mass., too hard when that young stugger undertook to stand before the champlen one night last Winter. Dixon was meeting all comers and Hennessey agreed to a "go." It was to comers and Hennessey agreed to a "go," It was to be for points and there was to be no stugging, Dixon's manager told Hennessey. Itennessey claims further that punches caused injuries to his phy leaf make up. He argued with Dixon after the show, but no restitution or explanation was given. Then be brought the matter to the attention of the police and a warrant was sworn out for Dixon's afrest. Dixon appealed from the decision of the lower court, which was against him. He gained nothing, however, as the decision was against him, and Judge Lilly fined him $100. The fine was pald by O'Rourke. ----

The Foot Guard American Committee, of Hartford, Cl., gave an abliefue entertainment at their armory, May 22, to about a thousand patrons. Tominy Ryan and Jack Falvey were among the contestants. Ryan knocked out Falvey in three rounds. W. L. Crowley was master of ceremonies. Ryan was seconded by Crowley and D. F. Crozter, and Falvey was looked after by Johnny Griffin, Morris Lane and Mike Falvey. Jack Sheehan was referee.

ELIMER GRANT, the expunding and policeman, died at his residence at Beaver Falls, Fa., May 27, of catarrh of the stomach, aged thirty five years. He leaves a wife and three liftle children. His case is a remarkably sad one, and his adments have long baffled the medical fraternity. From a rugged athlete, weighing 225th of clean bone and brawn, he wasted away until he weighed a scant froll. Barring the usual failings of men given up to such lines in life, he had qualities of character that mado many friends.

Peter Manett is credited with "besting" George Godfrey in their six round bout at the Casino, Boston, Mass., on Monday evening, May 28. Some claimed that in the final round the dusky boxer was really mable to respond to time lad it been called, but about that there is some doubt; still, the lad from Erik's Isle had the upper hand throughout the contest.

Work Defeats Hoev.

A match pigeon shoot, one hundred birds each, thirty yards rise and fifty yards boundary, for the thirty yards rise and fifty yards boundary, for the Riverton Gun Club Challenge Plate, held by George Work, took place at the Hollywood Gun Club grounds, Long Branch, N. J., on Saturday, May 19, between Mr. Work and Fred Hoey, the challenger. The match was a very close one up to the final twenty five birds, when Hoey secured a lead of four, but when he seemed a certain winner his nerve appeared to fail him, Work recovering his ground and the result being a tie on ninety birds killed, which was certainly a grand showing by both men, as the birds were a strong lot and the weather was not of the best. They decided the tie by shooting off at twenty-five birds, when Work won by killing twenty-four to his opponent's twenty-fiver to his opponent's twenty-fiver to his opponent's twenty-fiver. L. H. Thompson was referee and Captain Money pulled the traps. The winner was Immediately challenged by Mr. Daudo, of Philadelphia, and the match will be shot at the Hollywood grounds on Saturday, May 26.

George Work and T. S. Dando, of Riverton, N. J., shot a match for the Riverton Plate, at one hundred birds each, 30yds, rise and 50yds, boundary, at Hollywood, N. J., on Saturday afternoon, May 25. Work led almost from the start, although at the end of the first fifty he was but a single bird to the good, having then grassed forty-six. At the end of the seventy-fifth round the same difference was recorded, Work having sixty-seven to his credit, but afterwards Dando fell oif badly, and was eventually beaten by seven birds, the score standing 20 to 5. The winner was immediately challenged by R. A. Welch, of Riverton, and the match, which was promptly made, will be decided on the same grounds on June 2.

cussing a Boston man they had recently added to their ranks.
"Do you know," said a sly looking New Yorker, "that he is quite a remarkable fellow;"
"In what respect," asked a man from Cincinnati, "In respect to his linguistic ability. He speaks French quite as well as he does German."
"Is that so!"

"Is that so."?

"Is that so."?

"Is and he speaks Italian as well, if not better, than he does French."

"By George, he doesn't look it," ventured a smooth-faced chapple from St. Louis.

"It's true, just the same." continued the New Yorker, "and more: he speaks Spanish fully as well as he does Italian."

"He's a regular polyglot," said a Cleveland man.

"He ought to be a diplomat," suggested a long legged drummer from Louisville.

"Or a court interpreter," added a Hoosier from Indanapoits.

"He ought to take out a line of samples of canned tongue," said a Chicago ham drummer with a circus bill laugh.

"How well does he speak German." inquired a Detrett man modestly.

"How well does he speak German" inquiren a Detroit man modestly, "What's that:" smilled the New Yorker. "I said, how well does he speak German!" repeated the Detroiter slowly.

Then everybody looked at everybody else and at the New Yorker doubtfully, and the New Yorker got up and walked out without saying a word.—Detvoit Five Press.

WHAT AILED HIM.

They say that the mountaineers of Kentucky, Tennessee and adjoining States have no sense of humor, and possibly they have not. Be that as it may, says a Detroit Free Press writer, as I rode by a intserably poor nillside farm one day on the headwaters of Big Sandy, I saw the farmer stitting on the fence, chewing a bite of long green very complacently.

fence, chewing a placently, "Good morning," I said; "how far is it to Fan out three miles in the way you've got to go, cold?"

"No, mister," he whispered again; "'tain't that, It's this yer farm. I've been livin' on it fer ten yers, an't he land's so dern pore I hain't been able to raise my voice on it for the last five."

EMPLOYER.—Mr. Tops, I have long observed, with approval, your assiduity and devotion to business, and I am now about to fest your abilities in a new capacity, in which I feel sure you will acquit your-self with credit to the house, and—er——Mr. Tops: (highly delighted—I—I—I shall do my best, sir, As I was about to say, Mr. Tops, the porter is sick this morning and I—shall have to ask you to sweep out the other.—Prack.

HER IDEA OF GEHENNA,—Dolly—The wretch' and so he has been proposing to both of us: Polly—I seems so. Polly—I wish we could think of some fearful way to punish hum. Polly—I have an idea. Polly—What is it: Polly—You marry hum, love."—Truth.

SO DENSE is the water in the deepest part of th occan that an iron-clad, if it were to sink, would never reach the bottom.

never reach the bottom.

"YER riverence is like a mile post," said a bold, grumbling Wicklow peasant, "for ye always points to a road ye niver goes."

This tallest tree on earth is perhaps a gum tree, enculyptus reggsus, recently discovered in Australia. It is four hundred and fifteen feet high.

THERE are two things in the world upon which there have never been any improvement—the wheelbarrow and kissing.

HOW FAST CAN THE DUMB SPEAK ?

HOW FAST CAN THE DUMB SPEAK?

The deaf and dumb, as every one knows, "speak" by means of their fingers. How many words, then, can a good hand speaker form in a minute. According to the Postal Telegraph Department, the average number of letters per word in the English language is five. Now, a ready hand speaker can, make the English alphabet ten times in a minute—that is to say two hundred and sixty letters. It is usual for him to pause for the space of one letter after each word, to show that the word is complete, If, therefore, we subtract from the total just given about one-sixth for these stoppages, the total will be reduced to two hundred and fifteen letters. Let this be divided by five, the average number of letters per word, and we shall find that a fairly expert deaf and dumb person will speak forty-direct words per minute. A person in possession of speech will probably speak about one hundred and fifty words in the same space of time.

A well known litterateur not long ago delivered a lecture before a Buffalo club, and in the course of his talk he had occasion to quote Shakespeare's words about "uneasy lies the head that wears a crown," etc. At the conclusion of his address he was approached by a Scotchman, who expressed his pieasure at the talk, but took occasion to say that his approbation of Shakespeare was only limited. "There's that bit you said about the uneasy head and the crown. I duma like it. It's muckle foolish, Now our Robbie Burns would na ha' writ such stad."

The lecturer was a tride surprised, but inquired politely why the Scotthonan, "there's na a mon in Scotland, king or anybody else, sac foolish as to go to bed wi' a crown on. Any mon o'sense wid hang it over a chair before turning in:"—Harper's Mo.

The Columbia Band Brake

which made a great popular success last season is the only perfect working hub brake ever invented, and is again attached to our full roadster models 35 and 36. It makes cycling safe, because it holds on any grade, is quickly applied, and throws off readily. Its connection is out of the way, takes up no room, and makes no increase in weight
